MUST BEGIN THINKING IN WORLD TERMS IF COMMUNISM IS TO BE WIPED OUT, ADVISES AUTHORESS PEARL BUCK

Top-Flight Writer, Resident of Bucks County, Makes It Plain to Bucks County Medical Society That She Does Not Favor a "World Government," However

DOYLESTOWN, June 12 — "We must begin to think in world-terms if Communism is to be prevented or wiped-out," Pearl Buck, one of the world's top-flight writers and a resident of Bucks county, told members of the Bucks County Medical Society and the auxiliary of that group yesterday at a luncheon meeting at the Fountain House.

She made it plain that she was not in favor of "a world government" but that she was in favor of "a world business administration."

She mentioned that the first thing to be done in thinking in world terms is the formation of a world food administration.

"No, I am not in favor of shipping food to all parts of the world to others, but I do know that there need never be another famine anywhere," the distinguished Pulitzer Prize winner declared.

Miss Buck was introduced by Dr. Bradford Green, of Buckingham, president of the society. She pointed out in her talk that American doctors have a tremendous responsibility these days.

The speaker said that "big things" are happening throughout the world but we have been receiving very little information about what is going on.

"I am not a politician and not interested to a great extent in politics, but it seems to me we should know what's happening in this world. I am not so much concerned as to whether communism is taking over as to what makes it possible to have these things happening.

"What happened to Russia? Most of the people in that country were so terribly poor that they could hardly exist. Lack of food, poor health, lack of shelter and education—that's why communism started in Russia.

"Then came revolutions . . . We in America never had a revolutionary war—our revolutionary war was a war of independence. In China we have had revolutions always, and another is about to get under way. A revolution is the result of people being down-trodden when something has happened deep in the heart of people.

"We Americans know absolutely

Morrisville Council Orders New Police Car

MORRISVILLE, June 12 — Members of Morrisville Council accepted a bid from a local firm for a new police car this week, the bid to be placed in service soon.

A resolution was adopted placing on the September 9 primary election ballot the question "Shall the debt of the borough be increased $120,000 for additions to the water system." The money is for construction and additions to the present water works.

A request was made by Gilbert Sussman, representing the Morrisville Taxicab Service, to use two parking stands.

All regular salaried employes employed for more than a year were voted 12 working days vacation with pay; those with less than a year's duty were voted six working days with pay.

Councilman Charles C. Young, Sr., reported that his committee had visited a nearby town investigating parking meters and they were favorably impressed. Investigation of other localities' meters will continue until action is recommended.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

A Doylestown carpenter, M. M. McCann, had a tete-a-tete with a large deer which will probably never be repeated in his lifetime.

McCann, who was working on an outside building at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Kiplinger, near Aquetong, several days ago, felt something on his right shoulder.

Excited for a second, since there was no human being near him, he turned and glancing over his shoulder saw two dark eyes staring into his face.

He stood up, swung around and there stood a large buck which had come up quietly behind him and laid its head on his right shoulder, he states.

McCann, who was so taken back at his strange caller, patted him about the face, talked to him and then 'collared him" by putting his arm about the deer's neck.

The large buck, which was full-grown and had several scars on its back as if it had been lacerated, although the wounds are now healed, walked with McCann to the barn where he showed the deer to other workmen.

McCann, who had a salt cellar in his car, got some salt and put it on his hand and the deer, after licking the salt off, took off toward the wooded section of the farm.

"Maybe because of his scars he was an outcast with the other deer and that is why he was so friendly," McCann said.

"Findin's keepin's" was the opinion of Ford Hoffman, 41-year-old dishwasher at a Doylestown diner, until he was arrested by Lansdale

SLEZAK TO HAVE OWN AIR FIELD IN BUCKS

Now Really Air-Minded; Was Afraid to Fly Until 2 Years Ago

HAS A NEW PLANE

HOLLYWOOD, June 12—(INS)—Walter Slezak, who was afraid to fly until two years ago, really has gone air-minded in a big way.

He's going to have his own airfield on his big farm in Bucks county, Pa.

Walter departs for a vacation there with his wife and two children as soon as he winds up his role in "The Pirate" for M-G-M, which will be soon.

When your reporter arrived on the set, he was all enthusiasm.

"My new plane has arrived," he said. "I was afraid it wouldn't get here in time for the trip. It is a beauty."

Although the airport is only eight miles from his house, Walter said he has so much land he decided to have his own strip.

"For the past month, they've been making tests to learn the prevailing wind direction," he said. "I have a barn which I can use as a temporary hangar. The landing strip will be about 1800 to 2000 feet long."

65 Couples Apply For Licenses To Marry

DOYLESTOWN, June 12 — Cupid is trailing a rosy path to the altar during the month of June; or, at least, that is the indication given by the number of couples applying for marriage licenses in the Orphans' Court of Bucks County during the past ten days. Sixty-five couples, most of them from Bucks County, have applied for licenses to wed in June.

Of the 25 licenses applied for in the past three days, several have been granted to Doylestown residents.

ARRANGE A SURPRISE

EDGELY, June 12 — The Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Chapel, Edgely, will conduct a covered dish social on Wednesday, June 18th, in the church basement. The public is invited, and serving will be from five to seven p. m. Each person is asked to take a dish of food and a designated sum of money. Cards will be played.

THIRTEEN TO DINNER

When the New Dealers really go to town trying to "simplify" our ramified governmental structure, the results are appalling.

Take the Army-Navy "Unification" Bill.

For months the argument has been that the Constitutional arrangement of making the President Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy was unsatisfactory, and that some simple, workable system should be evolved in its place.

With the aid of the bureaucratic advisors of the Armed Services, a plan has now been worked out and, having received a marginal vote of support from the U. S. Senate Committee, will presently land in the lap of Congress.

Under the old arrangement, three parties were involved—the head of the War Department, the head of the Navy Department, and the Man in the White House. Anything else was "lace" which they put in for good measure. The President, as Commander-in-Chief, could have cut whatever red tape he found to be in his way.

The new scheme calls for no fewer than thirteen different bodies, many of them new, all with separate and often conflicting powers and duties. Thirteen of them, not counting the President.

Here is the list:

1. National Security Council.
2. Central Intelligence Agency.
3. National Security Resources Board.
4. Secretary of National Security.
5. Military Assistants to the Secretary.
6. Department of the Army.
7. Department of the Navy.
8. Department of the Air Force.
9. War Council.
10. Joint Chiefs of Staff.
11. Joint Staff.
12. Munitions Board.
13. Research and Development Board.

The conflicts, absurdities, blind spots and jokers in this arrangement are beyond belief.

They start at the beginning. Take the National Security Council which, named first in the Bill, is presumed to be the top-ranking body in what might loosely be called a "system."

COMPLETES 44 YEARS TEACHING IN BUCKS

Miss Josephine J. Carver Spent Last 28 Years At Wycombe School

IS NOW RETIRING

FOREST GROVE, June 12—Forty-four years in the teaching profession in Bucks County have been rounded out by Miss Josephine J. Carver, 28 consecutive years being spent as teacher at Wycombe Independent School

One of the best-known teachers in the county, Miss Carver started her career when only 17 years of age, immediately following her graduation from Doylestown high school in 1902. It was then that the late Allen S. Martin, who also had served as principal of the Doylestown schools, and later became county superintendent, asked Miss Carver to take a teacher's examination.

Having passed the examination, she was assigned to teach Friendship school, Buckingham township, at the beginning of the 1902-03 term. After teaching at Friendship for two years, Miss Carver returned to her home school at Mozart, where she taught eight years.

In the meanwhile she took courses at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, on Saturdays. After teaching at Mozart Miss Carver left the profession a year to attend Temple University, Philadelphia, to qualify for a permanent certificate.

Again taking up the work, the veteran teacher taught at Buckingham Friends' School two years, and two years later, when Buckingham high school was re-organized, she

PROPERTY OWNER SUES OFFICIALS

R. R. Lewis Asks $2,000 For Damages Done To His Place

START TWO DIVORCES

DOYLESTOWN, June 12 — Three suits, one in which Tinicum township officials are being sued for erosion and surface water damages, have been filed in the Court of Common Pleas here.

Claiming $2,000, Robert R. Lewis, who purchased a tract of land in Tinicum township in October, 1929, from Constantine and Anna Poolos, has named Tinicum township officials the defendants in an action in trespass in the Prothonotary's office.

The plaintiff, according to a statement of the complainant, in 1932 erected a stone and cement retaining wall along Dark Hollow creek along Mount Airy road. He also erected cedar posts and a railing and planted a rock garden.

The plaintiff alleges that since 1942 to the present date township officials have failed to maintain and keep the Mount Airy road in repair and that surface water and erosion have damaged his premises.

In a preliminary objection action filed, the defendants' attorney points out that no date or time, or whether the complaints were written or oral is mentioned in the complainant's statement.

Helen Marie Hall, Croydon, has begun an action in divorce against her husband, Walter Hall, whose last known address was Bridgewater, in the court here. They were married August 26, 1944, in Cornwells Heights, and separated July 5, 1945.

John Leonard Purzner, 121 Second avenue, Croydon, has been named the respondent in a divorce begun by his wife, Alice Irene Purzner.

They were married June 1, 1929, in Pleasantville, N J., and separated last May when the libellant and respondent were still residing at their home at 121 Second avenue, Croydon.

The libellant's present address is 126 Bath street, Bristol.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Again in Danger?

Washington, June 12.

IF the bipartisan foreign policy, so essential to the effectiveness of this nation in international affairs, continues healthy, it will be a rather striking refutation of the diagnosis of various journalistic doctors of more or less renown who specialize in the global field. For hardly a week goes by that one or the other of these erudite experts does not burst forth with a solemn warning that the policy of bipartisan cooperation is about to bog down.

—o—

FOR example, a short time ago, the reason given was that President Truman and Secretary Marshall had not "consulted" Senator Vandenberg in advance of the announcement of certain State Department policies and also that Secretary Marshall had not been able to establish quite the same kind of "cordiality" in his personal relationships as his predecessor, the exceedingly affable Mr. James F. Byrnes. The unflattering inference was inescapable that unintelligence and ineptitude existed on the one side and a certain smallness, plus a lack of conviction, on the other.

—o—

IT is pleasant to note that this theory has now been dropped and the information is now presented that Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg are on terms of "friendly intimacy," conferring informally at frequent intervals in the privacy of each other's homes. This "situation," never well based though its publicity was wide, must have both annoyed and amused the

CROYDON MAN IS REFUSED PAROLE; DOES NOT HAVE JOB

Judge Calvin S. Boyer Asks Probation Officer To Make Investigation

OTHER BRISTOL CASE

Dominic Dea Directed To Pay $25 Weekly To His Wife

DOYLESTOWN, June 12—George Smith, Jr., of Croydon, who was sentenced April 8th by Judge Calvin S. Boyer after pleading guilty to entering the store of Sheridan Metz, Farragut avenue, Bristol, on March 21st, and stealing women's apparel, was not granted a parole because he could not assure the Court of employment.

Judge Boyer directed Probation Officer H. E. Gwinner to investigate Smith's offer concerning obtaining employment.

Robert Farnsworth, 219 Hortetter street, Philadelphia, and Bath road, Midway, was directed by Judge Boyer to pay the costs of prosecution and $20 a week for the support of a son and daughter.

Farnsworth, who is employed on the Reading Railroad as a fireman, earns from $240 to $270 a month. His wife, Ellen Farnsworth, 775 Emilie road, Midway, testified that a maternity bill for the second child, amounting to $96.50 is still unpaid. The Court directed Farnsworth to pay that bill and also stipulated that Mrs. Farnsworth cannot take the children to England and expect her husband to support them.

Mrs. Farnsworth, who is divorced from her husband, denied that she expected to return to England with the children.

Dominic Dea, 491 Pond street, Bristol, was directed by Judge Boyer to pay the sum of $25 a week to his wife, Yolanda Dea, 924 Wood street, Bristol, for the support of three small children.

Judge Boyer advised the estranged father and mother to try to live together for the sake of the children, if possible.

To make sure that he wouldn't squander his money, which he received from "Down South" to return there, President Judge Hiram H. Keller, who granted a parole to

Appeals for Support For Girl Scout Fund

In an appeal for support of the $20,000 drive for funds for the Bucks County Girl Scouts, James H. Perkins, publicity representative, says:

"The product of World War II, child delinquency is a problem that can be solved and will be solved by the parents.

"Interest in group activities such as scouting is one means of helping solve this problem. The Girl Scouts in all countries are striving toward this end, even as the newly organized Bucks County Girl Scout Council is trying to combat the problem in this area.

"The Council is only the tool for solving this problem, but the solution is still in the hands of the parents for it is necessary for adult participation in Scouting to show the way for the future women of tomorrow. Bucks County is looking for and needs women to guide the young girls along the proper path of a good citizen and so it is in your power to help by seeing that your local troops are supported with adult participation.

"The present Bucks County Girl Scout drive for $20,000 is being conducted with this thought in mind; a girl well instructed, well entertained and well cared for, tends to make a good citizen. The money is of little value to the cause if we do not have the interest of the adults to see that these girls are helped in whatever field of scouting they choose. Ask yourself this question, "Am I interested enough in my daughter or my sister to give part of my time to help her and others like her in organized recreation and instruction?" If you are, get in touch with your nearest Girl Scout Troop and offer your services. Both you and your services will be very welcome."

LIGHT ON THE TREND

Two government reports dealing with the economic trend help to explain what has been happening to stocks. They do not predict a recession, nor do they necessarily foreshadow a business downturn, but they reveal some of the factors that have made investors cautious.

The Department of Commerce reports:

"Although business was maintained at a high level during April, the uninterrupted expansion of more than a year was halted. . . . There is evidence of a leveling off in capital expenditure for new plant and equipment and in housing during the first quarter of 1947. However, in the public utility and commercial construction fields the trend was still upward, and net exports of goods and services continued to expand."

As the rise in business activity had to stop somewhere, the flattening out of the curve is not particularly frightening. If the national income could stay at $177,000,000,000 a year—the rate during the first quarter—Americans would have much to be thankful for. But a halt may foretell a downturn, if building is not to take up the slack in other lines, and maintaining export demand is obviously a serious problem.

Exports today are mainly subsidized by the federal government in the form of loans to other nations.

The Federal Reserve Board's bulletin for May reports that consumer demand in some fields was not as strong in the first quarter as in 1946. It points out that business profits, now high, are the result of tax rebates, high volume production, and prices. Even a moderate decline in volume of prices, it says, would cause a "greater relative decline in business profits" than in other income shares such as wages to labor.

These reports go a long way toward disposing of charges that manipulators have been forcing stock prices down. They show that many uncertainties must be cleared up if investors' confidence is to be restored.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson says food prices will start falling this summer, or about the time the family garden takes over.

Crime also is feeling the effect of inflation. Losses from robbery in 1946 averaged $160, an increase of $13 over the previous year.

Those who maintain that the world is making some progress toward normalcy despite evidence to the contrary, can now point to a revolution in Nicaragua as proof.

Government authorities say there is less counterfeiting in the country today than ever before. It is unprofitable because all it gets you is money.

The field for soap operas is being greatly expanded. Russian radio stations are soliciting commercials.

This consists of the President, the Secretary of State, the four military heads—National Security, Army, Navy and Air Force—together with the Chairman of the National Security Resources Board. The President is made chairman and is to preside.

Now, what is the main function of this Council? You'd never guess. It is "to advise the President!" Yes, that's it—although he is member and chairman. The rest of the Council consists of his appointees. They aren't going to talk back seriously to their "boss," their chairman, and the man who holds their jobs in his power.

What this means is that the President, in effect, is told to talk to himself. He presides, helps direct the nature of the findings, and then makes "such recommendations, and such other reports to the President . . . as the President may require."

Won't he be surprised when he gets the Council's recommendations!

The "Intelligence Agency" wasn't selected to put intelligence into this faintly screw-ball scheme of "simplification," "coordination" and "integration."

The title is a misnomer, except to those familiar with the armed-service jargon. "Intelligence" is a double-jointed word used to mean the gathering of information—up to and including espionage—and the dissemination thereof in accordance with whatever the heads of the military branches deem good for the souls of the American people.

When a government goes into high-pressure "intelligence" work, especially in the hands of its military services, the agency winds up devoting its attentions to three fields: 1, spying, at home and abroad; 2, propaganda; 3, censorship.

The conflicts and inconsistencies of the new Bill can be well illustrated in the requirements for the Director of Central Intelligence. The Bill not only says he can come from the armed services, but encourages the President to so appoint him. It is expressly provided that whatever "status, office, rank or grade" he holds, and "any emolument, perquisite, right, privilege or benefit to or arising out of any such status, office, rank or grade" shall not be sacrificed by acceptance of the appointment. He can serve there and stay on active duty with the service he is in. Moreover, if he is getting less than $12,000 a year out of the government as "emolument, etc.," the difference will be made up to him—but if he is getting more, apparently he keeps the difference.

This is wholly unlike any other office covered by the Bill. No such elaborate provisions cover them. Many of the key jobs are restricted to "civilian life." Yet—inconsistent again—the Bill winds up putting the professional military minds in the majority of virtually every board, council, agency, etc., which is involved.

Even in his own National Security Council, the civilian President, the civilian Secretary of National Security, and the civilian Chairman of the National Security Resources Board, could be out-voted by the four Secretaries of Army, Navy, Air Force and State, all professional military men.

The National Security Resources Board, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the Munitions Board are all carefully assigned duties and functions which overlap and collide.

The NSRB (let's get around to initials) has charge of "policies concerning industrial and civilian mobilization," "programs for the effective use . . . of natural and industrial resources," "policies for establishing adequate reserves of strategic and critical material," "the strategic relocation of industries, service, government and economic activities."

The functions listed for the JCofS are almost identical, except for the more technical phraseology. Their duties are "to prepare joint logistic plans and to assign to the military services logistic responsibilities." Now, what does "logistic" mean? It means, in effect, the arranging for the military services to be sure in advance of having whatever they think they are going to want in time of war.

That's two bodies with the same assignment. But there's still another.

The Munitions Board is authorized "to coordinate the appropriate activities within the NSE with regard to industrial matters, including the procurement, production and distribution plans; to plan for the military aspects of industrial mobilization . . . to prepare estimates of potential production, procurement and personnel for use in evaluation of the logistic feasibility of strategic operation . . . to maintain liaison with other agencies for the proper correlation of military requirements with the civilian economy, particularly in regard to the procurement or disposition of strategic and critical material and the maintenance of adequate reserves, etc."

Does that sound simple? Does it appear that three different agencies, all assigned to the same job of trying to be sure our "war potential" is kept up to par, would be able to function with speed and precision?

Not so you'd notice it!

The Army-Navy Bill provides a whole series of lucrative new jobs at Uncle Sam's expense, and it delegates a great deal of new power in mysterious fashion to the chiefs of the Armed Services—but anyone who thinks this crazy-quilt of overlapping boards, councils, departments, secretaries, board, staffs and agencies will "simplify" things and "unify the command" hasn't studied the Bill.

Completes 44 Years Teaching in Bucks

was asked to serve as assistant principal there. She was on the staff of Buckingham high one year, and then served as assistant principal of Yardley high school three terms.

It was in the Fall of 1919 that Miss Carver took charge of the Wycombe Independent School, of which she has been the teacher.

Commenting about her long career as a teacher, Miss Carver said she rarely has resorted to corporal punishment in disciplining children. She is quite firm in her belief, however, that there is a lack of discipline in the schools today, and declares that unless there is discipline in the school, little can be accomplished.

Methods of teaching, said Miss Carver, have seen great changes since she began more than two score years ago. She referred to the extra-curricular work, which, she said, occupies much time of the teachers. She emphasized the point that, although the extra-curricular work is valuable, it is just as important or more so to give the children thorough training in the three "R's."

Many of the pupils at the school which Miss Carver last taught are the grandchildren of pupils she taught when she first went there, and one of her directors is Russell Smith, one of her pupils in her early days of teaching at the Wycombe school.

Miss Carver, who will be placed on pension as of July 1, says she has no immediate plans for the future, but says she will be kept quite busy at her home, where she lives with her brother, William H. Carver, a member of the Buckingham Township School Board for 33 years, and who was given a testimonial at the time of his retirement from the board.

Secretary and the Senator. In any event, that "peril" to the bipartisan foreign policy appears to have passed. Nothing has been heard of it for two weeks and more.

—o—

BUT a new "danger" has arisen. This time it is not the personal cordiality between Secretary Marshall and Senator Vandenberg that threatens collapse. This time it is the personal cordiality between President Truman and Senator Robert Taft. Some days ago Mr. Truman in a public statement assailed Mr. Taft's domestic economic policies and Senator Taft made a sharp reply, in which he asserted the President had misquoted him. Certainly this shows a lack of "personal cordiality" between the two men, but what has that to do with the bipartisan foreign policy? We are told that it makes very much less probable Senator Taft's support of the new Marshall co-ordinated plan for European reconstruction—a plan so big and broad as probably to involve grant of something like five billions a year. This plan, of course, has to be ratified by Congress, and a special session in the fall is advocated for that purpose. In foreign affairs, up to this time, Senator Taft has more or less accepted Senator Vandenberg's leadership and Senator Vandenberg, in turn, has co-operated with Senator Taft in domestic policies.

—o—

NOW, it is held, President Truman has committed a grave blunder in spoiling a "cordial personal relationship" with Mr. Taft, who, because of the attack, is expected to oppose the Marshall plan, thus breaking up the bipartisan co-operation on international matters at the moment when it is most vital. This may turn out to be true, but there are one or two things that should qualify its too ready acceptance. In the first place, the "cordial personal relationship" between Mr. Truman and Mr. Taft was not spoiled by the Truman attack because no "cordial personal relationship" existed to spoil.

—o—

THE Truman attack of last week was not the first time he has been critical of Senator Taft, and the Taft reply was not the first in which the Senator has been critical of Mr. Truman. Perhaps, Senator Taft will not support the Marshall plan for co-ordinated reconstruction next fall. But his opposition will not be because of personal hostility to Mr. Truman. To assume that, is to assume that Senator Taft is a small man who shifts his convictions on the gravest issues because of personal dislikes or prejudice. That is not the kind of man Senator Taft is. And that is not the kind of man Senator Vandenberg is.

—o—

IT IS not far from insulting to either to convey the impression that on an issue involving the welfare of the world, as well as of their own country, their position would be affected by personal pique or petty quarrels. It is true that Senator Taft has said he is "sympathetic" toward's arguments against Mr. Truman's proposal to equip our South American neighbors with American arms, but that is a trivial matter compared to the great plan outlined by Secretary Marshall, of course with the approval of the President.

—o—

THE reasons for support of this plan seem clear and imperative. They will be more so by the time the special session convenes. It is to be hoped that Senator Taft—like Senator Vandenberg—will give his support. But if he does not, only those who do not know him will believe Senator Taft is animated by a political, personal or unworthy motive. Perhaps, our bipartisan foreign policy will escape the great "danger" ahead as it did the "dangers" that no longer exist. Perhaps it will be possible next year to write again that its health is unimpaired.

Albert Lee Bethea, 21, a Negro, yesterday in court, here, directed that the parolee turn over the money to Probation Officer Horace E. Gwinner, who will purchase a ticket to his home in North Carolina.

Bethea, who was sentenced November 6th, 1946 after he pleaded guilty to stabbing Douglas White, a serviceman, during an altercation in a truck, was warned by Judge Keller to stay out of Bucks county. "We don't want you in this county."

"The Court wants to be sure that you don't stop off in Philadelphia, and to be positive that you will return, Probation Officer Gwinner will buy your ticket to Rockingham, North Carolina, where you will be employed," Judge Keller said.

The Negro has a mother, Willie May McArthur, living at Fayetteville, N. C., who is dependent on him.

The defendant began serving his sentence August 31st, 1946, after being arrested on charges of aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery.

Must Begin Thinking In World Terms, Says Authoresss Pearl Buck

nothing about a revolution; it is academic to us, but I assure you revolutions are going on throughout the world."

Miss Buck said that one Karl Marx gave the world the blueprint for revolution and that all revolutions in the future will take this communistic pattern.

"The breakdown of Communism in Russia to a certain extent at the present time has surprised many people," Miss Buck continued. "The pattern is breaking down in Russia slowly, and it is due to lack of competition . . . people are getting lazy and tired of not being able to do for themselves.

"Most of the countries of Europe are now headed for a revolution, and we as Americans have to face the proposition squarely. If the folks abroad do not get what they want from our own way of life they are going to get it from the Communists.

"As doctors you should be very much interested. After the starvation period has passed, the next in line is public health, the matter of keeping healthy and well, and here you can do much to see to it that the young doctors from other countries might gain the knowledge that you have and be able to return to practices in their own countries.

"We have so many weaknesses in our democratic government, especially the weakness of throwing fools to the top . . . the reason being we probably don't start low enough on the ladder.

"We need more doctors in the United States if we are going to avoid socialized medicine. I don't want it, and I don't believe you do. But the whole world needs more doctors, not only the United States.

"How are we going to fight Communism? Certainly Truman's way is entirely false for he is connected up with many of the old group.

"And General MacArthur, a great military leader, I might say, committed all the blunders that were possible to commit in China, for instance.

"We must begin now to think in terms of food, medicine and education to combat Communism, and think in world-terms. It is too much of a burden for America herself to feed the world, doctor the world and teach the world.

"For instance, on the world food proposition; if China were helped with cash or an emergency plan of some type, there would be no famine in that country, We should make our scientific and agricultural knowledge available to countries throughout the world.

"The United States government has kept food as a political weapon and it is totally inadequate and will eventually fail. Plenty of food will prevent Communism, and, incidentally, it will save this country's agriculture. When people are fed there is contentment, no Communism.

"Next to starvation comes poor health, the second cause of Communism, and the third cause is ignorance. Not to be able to read or write is indeed a depressing thing.

"UNESCO, that poor little group, received but $6,000,000 as its budget; how absurd when you realize that New York City spends more money in one year than that to clean the streets."

Miss Buck told the doctors and their wives that Russia is making big strikes in China and in India at the present time.

"But I know that another world war can be prevented, by some quick action on some world-thinking and world-action," she said.

"Russia is not ready to go to war; she has not recovered by a long shot from the last year. Why are Americans afraid of Russia or of another war . . . we have everything with which to help accomplish peace. The trouble is we have not been thinking in world terms.

"The American Medical Society has certain responsibilities in this world business administration and prevention of Communism. See to it that all countries have doctors available. Perhaps the young doctors from the other countries cannot be trained as specialists but at least they can acquire the necessary first-aid type of medicine to administer their people. The point is the doctors must be there — in every country."

Miss Buck said that in China some years ago the doctor did not see the patient, only in rare cases; that diagrams and a dot on a chart sent to the doctor's office was the only means the doctor had of diagnosis. The doctor had to guarantee to cure, she said, and if the cure resulted the fee was very high; if it failed, the fee was very low.

Modern medicine, Miss Buck said, has not progressed very far in China, although China has a lot of material for medical research but they don't have the opportunities that we have here in America of training.

police, Sunday, at his home in that borough, and turned over to Doylestown police.

Hoffman, according to Chief of Police Felix R. Gowan, found a pocketbook in the local diner where he was employed, and, although the owner of the pocketbook has been identified beyond a doubt, Hoffman had refused to turn over the pocketbook—which contained $62—to the owner, it is said.

The result was that the diner owner reported the affair to police. When Hoffman failed to report for work the day after he had picked up the pocketbook in the diner, Doylestown police notified Lansdale police to arrest Hoffman if he turned up at his home in that borough.

Boys and girls whose parents are members of Solebury Farmers' Club had complete charge of the meeting held in Trinity Hall, Solebury, Saturday evening. One of the boys was selected to preside over the meeting, which was attended by about 150 members and friends, a girl served as secretary, and all of the standing committee reports were presented by the young people.

Following the supper, the president, John Sutphin, introduced Douglas Magill, who conducted the meeting, and Barbara Coan, who served as secretary.

Because of the inclemency of the weather, the meeting was held in the hall instead of at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Prange, as had been planned previously.

The report for the dairy committee was given by Roberta Waterman, who said that because of the large amount of rain, the pastures are quite good and that dairy cows are producing an abundance of milk.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward Gearhart Yeomans, Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

O Lord our God, Who desireth truth in the inward parts, endow us with Thy Spirit that we might possess what Thou desireth. We give Thee thanks for the gift of Thy divine love, Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Saviour, Who came that we "might have life and that we might have it more abundantly." Abide in us, we beseech Thee, and may we abide in Thee. Hear us. Pardon us. Accept us. All this we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

TOWNSHIP YOUTHS WIN THIRD GAME OF THE SEASON

Victories Also Go To Bristol Terrace, Croydon and St. Ann's

HIBERNIANS LOSE OUT

Fourth Ward Boys Also Suffer a Defeat in Game Here

The Bristol Township aggregation won its third straight game of the Bristol Youth League, last evening, while victories also went to the Bristol Terace, Croydon, and St. Ann's teams.

The Township team handed an 8-4 defeat to the Hibernians, the latter's first loss of the season. Township had 11 hits and were led at the plate by LeRoy Lynch, who had a double and triple. His double drove in two runs.

Horace Saxton was the losing pitcher, he relieving "Bill" Cochrane in the fifth. Bob Elker went the route for Township.

The Terace boys defeated the Fourth Ward Boys Club, 8-1, but Manager "Vince" Faragalli has entered a protest, claiming that Terrace violated several rules.

St. Ann's Juniors walloped the Bell's Aces, 9-1, and Croydon had little difficulty with the Third Ward Eagles, winning 9-1.

GOODWILL NINE LOSES TO VOLTZ

With "Mike" Deitch pitching superbly, the Voltz-Texaco team handed the Goodwill Hose batters a half dozen goose-eggs, last evening, ina Suburban League game on the Third Ward field. Final score was: Voltz, 5; Goodwill Hose, 0.

Deitch allowed the firemen five hits, while the winners had six hits off "Loggie" Bragg. Deitch struck out six batters and was aided by a fast double-play in the third inning.

Of the six hits made off Bragg, four came in the fourth and fifth frames when the gasmen scored all their runs. The Goodwill team played ragged ball in the fourth but the trio of markers in the fifth were earned.

The victory increased the Voltzmen's lead on first place in the second division of the circuit.

LEGION JUNIORS WIN OPENING TILT OVER QUAKERTOWN

Bristol Boys Nose Out The Visitors by Score of 4 to 3

JONES ON THE MOUND

Visitors Are Allowed But Three Hits by The Pitcher

The Bristol Legion Juniors won their opening game of the Bucks County Legion League by nosing out the Quakertown Junior Legion, 4-3, in a hard-fought game on Leedom's field, last evening.

To "Linny" Jones, former Northeast High twirler, goes the credit for pitching the Bristolians to the victory. Jones allowed the visitors but three hits and should have had a shutout but for a little wildness and erorrs in the fourth inning.

Jones struck out eight batters, seven in the first three innings. He had trouble in retiring the opposing pitcher, Bob Kaufman, who smacked out the trio of hits made against the Bristol hurler.

After Quakertown had tied the score in the fourth, Bristol won out in the last half of the fifth inning. Morrell singled past third base. Kaufman caught Morrell off first but in the run-down Myers threw wild and Morrell went to second. Mama grounded out, Morrell going to third. Joe Dominick drove out a hit to left and Morrell scored the winning run. Killian also singled and Murphy walked to fill the bags but Hutchison struck out.

Bristol had a narrow escape in the fifth when Kaufman opened with a hit over the first base bag. Wolf sacrificed but in fielding the ball Jones errored, making two runners on. Rosenberger laid down a bunt but was ruled out for stepping over the batting box. The runners had advanced but were ordered back to their bags. Moyer then tapped to Morrell who tug Wolf going to second and tossed to Harmon to double the batter.

Joe Dominick and "Bill" MacSherry led the Bristol batters. MacSherry, former Fallsington High catcher, had two doubles while Dominick drove in two runs and scored one himself.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO PA. FARMERS

By Suzanne Flick
I. N. S. Penna Farm Editor

HARRISBURG, June 12 — The State Agriculture Department has launched its annual warfare against destructive Japanese beetles.

Eight hundred beetle-killing wasps have been released in heavily infested Franklin, Adams and Snyder counties, the Department reported.

Female Korean Tiphia wasps, deadly enemies of the Oriental beetles, were expected to destroy more than 300,000 beetles grubs this summer.

Wasp colonies were planted chiefly on the Gettysburg battlefield, Selinsgrove Fair Grounds, golf courses and mountain recreational areas in the vicinity of Scotland and Caledonia, the Department said.

"Each female wasp will lay one egg on an average of 400 different beetle grubs," the Department explained. "The wasp eggs hatch into grubs which in turn devour the beetle grubs."

It was simply a case of "grub eat grub," the Department said.

The battle would take place underground, it added, before the plant destroying insects had an opportunity to emerge in early July.

Beetles ravaging other counties were expected to be checked by wasps liberated last year.

Protected areas included Oakmont, Allegheny county, Wilkes-Barre, Luzerne County, and communities in York, Armstrong and Northumberland counties.

Operators of county and community fairs were conducting campaigns to eliminate flies and mosquitoes during summer performances.

The Agriculture Department has been flooded with requests for advice on effective use of the war-developed insecticide DDT on fair grounds.

Operators were advised to use heavy applications of either spray or DDT duster around barns, stables and exhibition halls six weeks before the opening date. Only light doses would be applied to eating establishments, the Department said.

Treatments should be renewed a week before the opening date, if necessary. The Department warned against spraying animals that might lick the insecticide and emphasized that oil solutions of DDT should never be smeared on livestock.

Farmers suffered slight income losses during May, but continued to face peak operating costs.

A Federal-State survey revealed declines in average prices received for livestock and by-products offset gains in crop costs and reduced the purchasing power of the farm dollar by a penny.

The worth of the farm dollar was pegged at $1.10, a drop of 10 cents for the same month of 1946, the survey indicated.

Purchasing power is calculated on the 100-cent dollar value during 1909-14.

Products which declined during the month included meat animals, down five points; wholesale milk, dropped 25 cents to $4.30, retail milk, down a tenth of a cent, butter, down four cents to 65 cents a pound and eggs, down six-tenths of a cent to 45.6 cents a dozen.

CONSERVATION IS A VERY IMPORTANT TASK

Conservation Laboratory Is A Step Forward In Education

SOURCES OF PROGRESS

(Prepared for The Courier by the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce.)

The conservation of Pennsylvania's natural resources may well prove to be the most important task to be faced by the people of our State during the next generation. Our water supply, coal, oil, iron, forests and soil have been the chief sources of the great industrial progress of this Commonwealth and have exercised a vital influence on the growth and the protection of our Nation. In the past we have not always used these precious gifts of nature any too wisely and that fact is now demanding increasing attention by State and local authorities entrusted with the responsibility of safeguarding our future prosperity.

During the past two years, under the leadership of James H. Duff, now Governor of Pennsylvania, the Commonwealth has embarked on a far-reaching program of conservation. Such a program can only succeed if all of the people of the State understand both its need and its purposes.

The first Conservation Education Laboratory ever held in this State was conducted last summer at State College. In this Laboratory course, two groups of teachers from the public schools of Pennsylvania were given the opportunity of observing in the field many of the problems concerned with the maintaining or improving the State's water supply and its resources in minerals, soil and wildlife. Experts in all these fields conducted seminars on conservation and conservation education. Last summer's session was so successful that the various organizations and State agencies which supported and sponsored the course are providing funds and assistance for a continuation of the Conservation Laboratory in July and August of this year. These courses are designed to provide the teachers in the public schools with first-hand information in a field which is vitally important to the future welfare of all the young people in our State.

The Departments of Public Instruction, Agriculture and Mines have joined with the State Fish and Game Commissions, and the State Plannig Board in supporting and developing the program of instruction which makes possible this forward step in teacher training.

The two sessions of 1947 will be from June 30 to July 19, and from July 21 to August 7. Each will include courses with college credit on the teaching of the Conservation of Natural Resources as adapted to the need of elementary and secondary pupils. They are open to the public school teachers of the State on the recommendation of their district superintendent.

SPEEDBOAT CLASSIC TO BE HELD SUNDAY AT EDDINGTON

Twice Rained-Out Championships Scheduled at Aquadrome

MANY CONTESTANTS

Noted Pilots Will Guide Their Fast Boats Over The Course

The short-course spring championships to determine the national title holders in Class 1 and Class 2 outboard speedboats, will be held at the Aquadrome, Eddington ¼-mile oval water speedway, Sunday.

Time trials, two qualifying heats in each class and two featured championship events will make up the card. The event, rained-out on May 18 and cancelled because of rain after four and one-half events on May 25, promises to draw the largest field of contestants ever to compete on the Eddington waterway.

In Class 1, the fifty-mile-an-hour class, local driver Francis (Doc) Williams of Eddington and Fall Champion Ed VanHouten, Kearny, New Jersey, will be favored over a field including Gil Peterman, Bronx, N. Y., who had four feature wins last season; Jack Schiedel, Oreland, who will drive a new Schmutz three-point designed hull; Dean Worcester, Silver Spring, Maryland, who competed last season in the larger Class 2 competition; Henry Shakeshaft, White Plains, N. Y., second in the fall championships; Johnny Morian, Bound Brook, N. J., in a new Jacoby hydroplane; Byron Shannon, Audubon, N. J.; newcomer Larry Teel, of Lambertville, N. J., and Bill Guldin, popular driver from Coatesville.

Walt Edwards, Jr., Class 2, Fall Champion, will be among a large field of entrants in the sixty-mile-an-hour group. Ed Meckler, Jersey City racer who was out of competition most of last season after a crack-up on the drome oval wrecked his former Lipton Trophy boat Valerie, will be entered with a new boat, a duplicate of his former trophy-holder. Meckler finished second in his only Drome start of the season on May 25, and was high point scorer at the inaugural of the GlenLoch Speedway, Blackwood, N. J., on Memorial Day. Byron Shannon, who cracked-up his new Class 2 outfit Bye Now in test runs at the Drome several weeks ago, has completed repairs and will be among the favorites. Walt Edwards, Sr., last season's Aquadrome high-point champion will again drive his three-point suspension hydroplane. Edwards hit a buoy and was thrown from his boat during a qualifying heat at the Drome on May 25, but has had several new planks installed on the forward plane and expects to have his Miss Amoco tuned-up at a sixty-four m. p. h. peak.

Roughriding Dean Worcester, the naval architect, will drive Bottom's Up, the boat in which he set a new short-course half-mile record at 41 seconds flat. Others in Class 2 include the father-son racing team of Ray Shilling and Ray Shilling, Jr., Kensington, who will pilot Hell Ray and Hell Ray II, both three-pointers.

Johnny Dea, pilot of Trigger Tess, a newcomer from Newportville, has converted his engine to alcohol fuel and expects to gain several m. p. h. by the switch. Jim Baden, Washington, D. C., racer, will again drive Poison. Two other drivers from the southern circuit, Johnny McAdams, of Baltimore, and Ike Hale, of Washington, will try the local course for the first time.

Ho-Hum II and III have been entered by Milt Carmichael of Scranton who will pilot Ho-Hum II. No driver has as yet been announced for his other entry.

Additional entrants will be filed before noon of June 14 and will be announced in Saturday's edition.

Short-course speedboat racing, designed as a spectator sport, was introduced for the first time anywhere in the country at the Eddington Aquadrome a year ago. It holds promise of becoming as popular with speed enthusiasts as midget auto racing and to date three other courses have announced their intention of running a regular schedule of races. Glenloch Water Speedway, which was opened to the public on Memorial Day plans a weekly schedule of Friday night races under lights. Blue Lake Speedway at Croton, N. Y., opened last Saturday afternoon and will operate each Saturday through September. The fourth in the Eastern circuit will be the Fairgrounds Speedway at Danbury, Conn. Plans are being made for another course in Ohio and one in Maryland although no definite dates have been announced.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Here's to the Women-Folk!

There's a line at the heading of the Woman's Column in my paper that reads:

"Women through the years have stood Keepers of the flame . . ."

Pretty easy to see what it means; whether it's the flame on the hearth, or the candle in the window, or the feeling of warmth that surrounds a home.

It's the women who are guardians of the things we cherish about homelife—who are tolerant of ashes on the rug; the rings a glass of beer can leave on tables; or the comfortable but too-worn chair that we can't bear to throw away.

From where I sit, those little satisfactions become more and more important in this world of strife and change. Smoke rings curling from a mellow pipe; a glass of beer; a comfortable chair before the fire. And I'd like to salute the housewives — "keepers of the flame" — whose tolerance and understanding helps preserve them!

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT
CLEANS ITSELF!

Your house keeps its freshly painted look when finished with Du Pont House Paint. Dirt and grime can't become embedded—rains just wash them away!

SELF-CLEANING Du Pont House Paint is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash the powder away, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. Excessive accumulations of dirt (particularly in sooty industrial communities or in heavily shaded locations) may delay or interfere with this process. Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

SELF-CLEANING Du Pont House Paint is as durable as it is beautiful . . . protects against rust, rot, and decay . . . gives lasting beauty and protection. Costs no more than ordinary paints—saves repainting bills! Call on a reliable painter for your painting jobs, and ask him to use Du Pont House Paint!
